

OVERCOMING POLARIZATION

A Roundtable Production

Tuesday, October 30th 2012 — 6pm to 9pm
Hood College | Whitaker Campus Commons

Moderator: Pattee Brown
President of Rockwood Brown and Radio Host of WFMD's Frederick's Forum

The Panel: David Brinkley – Maryland State Senator
Sharon Dobson – President, Frederick County Commission for Women
Steve Gottlieb – Chair, Frederick Republican Central Committee
Dr. Syed Haque – President, United Maryland Muslim Council & FNP Columnist
Linda Hardman – Executive Director, CALM Frederick County
Myrna Whitworth – Chair, Frederick Democratic Central Committee

The Speakers: Michael Corrigan – Author of Exposing America's Secret Civil War
Kathryn Ruud – Public Speaker on Polarizing Language

This Roundtable discussion will bring together six community leaders to discuss the state of civil discourse in our community. This event sheds light on the negative ways in which we as a community interact with each other and asks the question, how can we collectively move past this behavior and move toward a more productive means of communicating in civic discussion?

This event is the catalyst to a series of workshops that will take a more practical and intimate look at polarizing behavior. New Horizons - Zones of Peace Project in conjunction with Engaged Citizen will produce a series of workshops that will bring people of opposing opinions together to practice civil discourse in an effort to move forward on these complicated issues.
